Dear John Oommen:

On behalf of the IEEE Board of Directors and more than 420,000 IEEE members throughout the world, it is my pleasure to inform you that you have been selected for IEEE Life Membership.

This special honor is reserved for individuals who have truly distinguished themselves through their sustained and lasting contributions to IEEE. Your Life Member status speaks to both your professional achievements in technology as well as the significant impact you have made on the growth and development of IEEE. We are grateful for your exemplary service to our association, for your leadership, volunteerism and dedication to advancing technology for humanity.

We look forward to your continued leadership as an IEEE Life Member. Designees of this top echelon of membership are among the most active, engaged and influential volunteers. Life Members serve as reviewers, editors, and conference organizers. They participate in the development of standards, organize and participate in local meetings and serve in leadership roles at all levels of the organization. The contributions of IEEE Life Members are indispensable to IEEE's sustainable success.

In recognition of extraordinary contributions to IEEE, your base membership dues are henceforth waived. If you have been a member of a technical society or the IEEE Standards Association for at least five consecutive years prior to reaching Life status, you may be entitled to additional waivers.

Your new IEEE Life Member card and a commemorative certificate from the IEEE Life Member Committee are enclosed. These credentials are conferred with the utmost gratitude and respect.

Thank you for your long-standing dedication and continuing contribution to the success of IEEE and the advancement of technology for the benefit of humanity.

Sincerely,

José M F Moura
